

WE NOMINATE

The first father-and-daughter team to appear on Town Topics' cover page, Theodore Henry Kennedy and Jewel Kennedy, both of whom are members of Princeton Hospital's administrative staff, the former as veteran head of one of the medical center's 14 service and professional departments and the latter on the threshold of her third month in the Medical Records Department. Theirs are the kind of essential, unsung positions which in the long haul are as important to the Hospital's day-to-day functioning as are the more dramatic, and more easily understandable, roles filled by nurses and medical specialists.

What a British scientist has termed "the differences between succeeding generations" are reflected in this team's preparation for their present assignments within the Hospital. The 46-year old father, who "has not had a day off the pay-roll" since 1941, served an on-the-job apprenticeship before taking over direction of a laundry that now numbers 13 employees and has processed nearly a half-million pounds of laundry in the first seven months of 1958. Last June the 20-year old daughter, exactly five days after she had completed an intensive two-year training program at Green Mountain College, Poultney, Vt., reported for duty in Medical Records.

While the decision to enter the specialized medical secretarial field was entirely of her own making, Miss Kennedy does admit that she has been "living under the influence of the Hospital for as long as I can remember." In fact, for the past six years she and her family have been living in an attractive home that was once an integral part of the Hospital. The Kennedy homestead, which stood for decades on the Hospital grounds next to the original wooden hospital building, has been completely remodeled by Kennedy since he moved it to 129 Birch Avenue in 1952. Over the years it served successively as a stable, garage, conference-room and finally as the out-patient clinic.

Kennedy moved north to Princeton from his native Patterson, Ga., in 1932. He worked for the Hospital for five years in the 1930's, tried his hand at other jobs in the community and returned to the Hospital "to stay" seventeen years ago. Although the output of his department has actually increased 65-fold since World War II, he has made time for other worthwhile activities. Now vice-chairman of the board of deacons of the First Baptist Church, and long active as a Republican Committeeman in the Township, he was also a driving force in the campaign for the new 'Y.'

Miss Kennedy, Princeton-born and the oldest of three children, figured conspicuously in the Commencement Exercises for the Princeton High School Class of 1956 and indicated what the future might hold by carrying off honor awards established by the High School P.T.A., the Business and Professional Women's Club, the Friendship Club, Los Amigos Club and the Princeton Bank and Trust Company. Again at Green Mountain she demonstrated her potential for a responsible post in a department of vital statistics.

For their enthusiasm for responsibilities they must assume in helping operate a community service institution; for proving the wisdom of the seer who once asked, "Can two walk together, except they be agreed?"; this father and daughter are Town Topics' nominees for

BUSY (AS PREDICTED)
 From A (as in Action). Just a week ago, in this column, TOWN TOPICS speculated a bit, predicting Princeton's "busiest August ever" while touching on varied developments of the month's opening days. Now, it can be told, that theory of a week back has evolved into fact of the moment. And who's to predict it will stop at mid-month?
 The Borough police department, of course, held center stage this past week. As members of the force and citizens in general contemplated internal changes in the department, which became apparent with the expected acceptance of Chief John H. Smith's retirement request Tuesday, the police experienced their busiest two hours in a long spell. Murder, attempted suicide and sudden death caused the flurry (see story below).
 In addition to the important subject of future police department policy, Borough Council weighed other far-reaching matters at its regular August meeting. A glowing report on the success of Urban Renewal's "Workable Program," a welcome for the Borough Housing Authority's new acting executive director, a thought or two about the ever-present parking problem and a big question—will it be "The Pink Elephant" or "The White Elephant"—were considered (for a complete rundown, turn to stories and photos, page 3 and 4).
 To Z (as in Zero Hour). Perhaps Borough Council covered more ground than Princeton Township's newest sidewalks will cover on Valley Road, but there's no doubt that these sidewalks were responsible for the Township Committee's busiest August session ever. As a matter of fact, the "hot" air—inside as well as out Monday evening—had Committee members wondering whether they might invoke a rule against filibustering at the local government level (see story, page 4).
 "Hot" was also a good word for the Princeton sports scene this week as heated pennant races brought different baseball leagues to the feverish business of post-season climax contests. The Princeton Junior Baseball League, with its favored leader almost "in," prepared for another annual All-Star game. The Princeton Community Softball

ON THE GO: Borough Police Chief John H. Smith not only submitted his official retirement request this past week, but also supervised direction of his department's work during a death-married morning—and still managed a few hours of week end leisure at his cabin in the Pocomos. League, in something of a rain-prompted, ten p e r - prompted sweat all summer, neared its first-round playoffs, but didn't know what teams would be matched. And, for the Princeton Athletic Club, it was already the zero hour in Tri-County League post-season competition (for details, turn to Sports in Princeton, starting on page 18).

DEATH IN THE A. M.
 A Grim Sequence. Minutes after Judson Carter departed for his job last Friday morning, 21-year-old Edward Jones emerged from a hiding place—reportedly the basement of the Carter home at 151 John Street—and climbed to Octavia Mae Carter's bedroom, where he shot and killed his girl friend, 18 and a recent Princeton High School graduate. Some sort of lover's quarrel preceded the violent death, witnessed by Octavia's two younger brothers; then, Jones turned the .22 rifle on himself and fired shattering slugs into his chest and stomach.
 As pieced together by Borough Lt. Raymond Mondone, assisted by Patrolman Dan Hagadorn and the officers who answered the first call to the bloody scene, Patrolmen Richard Panico and Douglas Watson, Jones had an argument with Miss Carter during a movie date Thursday night, picked up the weapon several hours later and waited in the basement until Mr. Carter was gone. These Questions:

 Some people think the best reason for having a Checking Account is the way the check stubs keep a record of every cent paid out. They know, too, that paying by check saves time and steps, and that the record on the check stub discourages over-spending.

been cited as the cause of the death shooting, though ensuing statements may dispute this theory. Asked why he tried to commit suicide, Jones told police: "I couldn't live without her."

This week, as TOWN TOPICS went to press, the lower Alexander Street resident continued to live, in spite of his post-ambulance wounds. Recovering from surgery, which included repair of some half-dozen serious stomach wounds inflicted by flying bone, Jones remained on the "critical" list at Princeton Hospital, given a 60-to-60 chance to pull through. Around-the-clock police guards and such costly medical expenses as an oxygen tent were being maintained by Mercer County, now in charge of Princeton Hospital's first murder case in five years.

As Jones fought for the life he craves he doesn't want, funeral services for the teen-ager whose life he took were held Tuesday afternoon. Rev. William Parker of the First Baptist Church officiated, with interment at Princeton Cemetery. Miss Carter is survived by her mother, who was in Massachusetts at the time of the slaying; her father; her two younger brothers, witnesses Jeffrey, 6, and Clifford, 5; an older brother, Judson Jr., who is with the Air Force; and a maternal grandfather, Pleasant Macon of Monmouth Junction.

First word of the Carter-Jones tragedy reached Borough Hall at 7:43 a.m., when Mrs. Mary Ellis, 160 John Street, called to report the sound of children crying for help across the street. Less than two hours later, at 9:35 a.m., Jorge H. Filo, 53, of Perth Amboy, was pronounced "dead on arrival" at Princeton Hospital. His death was unrelated to the murder-attempted suicide, though it contributed in grim fashion to an active morning for the police.

Mr. Filo, working for the Funeral Auto Service of Perth Amboy, was reading his floral card for a pending funeral ceremony emanating from the Mather Funeral Home at 40 Vandewater Avenue. While discussing a recent heart attack with another attendant, he fell to the ground suffering from a second seizure. Patrolman John Markuson, on the scene in a hurry, attempted to revive the visitor with oxygen, but his efforts proved in vain.

ROUND-UP

AROUND TOWN: Backed to the hilt by the Princeton Business Association, a conscientious Princeton citizen, Mrs. Edgar Lyden, 409 - A Butler Avenue, signed a complaint Tuesday that resulted in a much-sought court appearance for Raymond Hughes of Trenton, proprietor of Ray's Appliance, 343 Nassau Street. . . the defendant came before Borough Magistrate Theodore T. Tams Jr., sitting in special session, and was found guilty of business misrepresentation, resulting from his acceptance of a $23.95 down payment on an air conditioner for Mrs. Lyden, his promise of delivery by July 8, and his refusal to repay the initial amount on failure to deliver, even after the promised date. . . Mr. Hughes, formerly manager of the now-defunct Princeton Appliances Center at the Shopping Center, was ordered to produce a $50 fine and $10 court costs or go to Mercer County jail for 20 days. . . another appliance, reportedly missing this week, is the brand new mouthpiece for the recently renovated (at $50 expense) public drinking fountain across Nassau Street from Woolworth's. . . less likely prey for vandals are the handsome, newly installed Morven pillars, complete with black-cased lights and golden eagles, at both entrances.

SHORT SHOTS: Speaking of Morven, the gubernatorial mansion's master has been making quite a flying tour of the West, predicting an appropriate number of Democratic victories come November and visiting excellent hosts (such as Gov. Raymond Gary of Oklahoma, who pushed Gov. Averell Harriman of New York for the Democratic Presidential nomination in 1956) . . . at a cost of close to $250,000, the State Highway Department will construct a new, wider bridge over Becken's Brook on Route 206 (in nearby Montgomery Township), hiking the overall width of the bridge to 64 feet and the number of lanes for 250 on either side of the span from two to four lanes. . . Princeton Teen Canteen enthusiasts see reminded that 8:30-11:30 dances will be held at the Princeton High School parking lot this Saturday and August 30 and on the roof at Bamberg's the evening of August 22. . . less their enthusiasm be dimmed, boys are asked to wear slacks (not shorts or bluejeans) and dress shirts (not sport shirts or no shirts) to the popular summer affairs. . . on the subject of popular affairs, tickets for Princeton Hospital's benefit Golf Day at Forsgate Country Club (September 13) are selling well, so Mrs. Kenneth J. Dawes Jr., chairman, urges all interested duffers to sign up now ($10 for greens fee and luncheon, $25 per couple for gala dinner dance). . . that delux Ford Thunderbird being displayed on Nassau Street (and going for $5 a chance, only 2,000 chances) will be presented to the lucky winner at the "Forsgate Day" dance. . . needless to add, they're selling fast, too.

MAYOR AND COUNCIL

Smoke—No Fire. Tuesday's session of Mayor and Council, billed as the August equivalent of the Trenton State Fair, complete with fireworks, produced nothing more than a workmanlike, 97-minute meeting during which the Council—at full strength—confirmed the retirement request of Police Chief John H. Smith, passed a handful of ordinances on first reading and postponed until Thursday, August 21st, at 8:00 p.m. any public discussion of "Pink Elephants".

Postponement of action on the now widely discussed "Pink Elephant" request, involving transfer license from Walter C. Tash to Robert D. McCarthy, and associates, and the possibility of the latter opening a cocktail lounge at 252 Nassau Street (next door to the new Ivy Inn), was brought about by the receipt of protests about the proposed location.

Forty-nine residents of the Nassau-Mt. a p l e - Pine-Chestnut area have aligned petitions expressing concern over the advisability of permitting two retail outlets to operate in such close, door-by-door proximity. The Council's decision to postpone the hearing for a full nine days was attributable to what Mayor Male called "our desire to make sure that everyone has a chance to be heard."

O'Kane to Eory. In the space of less than five minutes the name of O'Kane, long familiar on the Nassau Street scene, slipped out of the town's business directory as Council approved the transfer of the retail ("package") license held by O'Kane's Liquor Store, 244 Nassau Street, to Stephen Eory, who is leaving his New Brunswick grocery business to enter the liquor business here under the trade name of Varsity Liquors.

"Interesting and Rewarding." This was the capsule description 51-year old Chief Smith applied to the nearly 31 years he has spent in the service of the Borough of Princeton since becoming a "special policeman" in the fall of 1927—and particularly to the event-packed four years he has held forth as the guiding force in the Department.

Tuesday evening, the "Town Fathers" accepted his request for retirement with profound reluctance. Subject to an agreement, which will be formalized at a meeting of the Police Committee (Councilmen Farr, Mather and Coyle) next Thursday, Smith will

Semmy Feels Clammy

*When Princeton's dry.
A cooler's fair,
But this wet air
—SOGGY SAM

You're so right, Sam boy, this August-in-New Jersey weather doesn't agree too well with many a cooler. Lately, though, it's been the high humidity rather than rainfall that's caused the frustration. Until Tuesday's downpour, Princeton hadn't experienced precipitation in 10 days. In fact, the Stony Brook - Millstone Watershed Association reported the week of August 4 through 10 was the first in two months without any rain—and only the fourth such week since January 1.

The outlook for the week end? Well, the weather pattern happens to be a little spotty at the ground level but on the fair side aloft, where the airflow is currently from the northwest. Thus, there probably will be some variable cloudiness and widely scattered showers, or thunderstorms, in the next few days. It should be generally fair and eightyish, however, for swimmers heading for the seashore.

relinquish his duties early next month, will enjoy the benefits of accrued leave and will officially retire January 1st.

Smith, a native of Trenton and a graduate of Princeton schools, has made his home here for more than four decades. After some 19 years as Police Lieutenant, he was designated Acting Chief, succeeding Edward Mahan, in the fall of 1954 and was advanced to his present post on January 1, 1955.

Other Council Developments. As Mayor and Council, and an attentive audience of some 60 persons, ranged far and wide over Borough problems, these were some of the high spots of the evening:

- The September opening of the Public Service Parking Yard (Witherspoon and Wiggins) will enable the Borough to curtail on-street parking by imposing two-hour limits on sections of eight different Borough streets, including Madison, Westcott, Cleveland, John, Tulane, Humbert and Greenview.
- The Princeton Business Association's continuing and mounting concern with parking in the business district was re-alfirmed by PBA President Edward A. Clobossey who suggested the possibility of "opening up" the Nassau-Witherspoon-Tulane block by acquiring the "Tilus Motors Building and property". He also indicated that his Association will soon file a firm listing of "parking priorities" with the Borough.

- Council approved the immediate acquisition, at an approximate outlay of $19,000, of a new "high pressure fog" pump for Mercer Engine Company No. 3. This long-sought piece of equipment, an acquisition strongly recommended by outside firelighting specialists, will replace a 35-year old unit.
- Mayor Male was authorized to investigate with officers of the Westminster Choir College the possibility of the Borough purchasing from the College the narrow strip of "greenery" opposite the College's main buildings on the south side of Hamilton Avenue. Such a move, it was felt by Council, would help preserve a "green belt" along a main artery in a fast-developing section of the Borough.

CHANGING OF THE GUARD: Dr. Harry W. Hazard, a member of the Princeton Borough Housing Authority since 1949, talks about his elevation to the post of Acting Executive Director and Acting Secretary. His listener is Mrs. Marcella Vreeland, who has been serving as Acting Director and Acting Secretary for the past half-year. Dr. Hazard will take over Saturday, while Mrs. Vreeland will move to Connecticut in the near future. (Chachowski Photo).

Topics Of The Town

—came meaningful announcements bearing upon the oft-discussed, hotly-debated Princeton urban renewal project which could mean the construction of the "through street", linking Avalon Place and Wiggins Street, and the reconstruction of the Hulfish-Jackson area.

In Washington Albert M. Cole, Administrator of the Housing and Home Finance Agency, gave initial approval to the Borough's so-called "Workable Program" and informed Mayor Male that "I have certified to the Commissioner of the Federal Housing Administration, the Public Housing Administration and the Urban Renewal Administration that Federal assistance... may be made available to you as part of your total program."

While this approval by Washington, including Mr. Cole's congratulations to the community on the formulation of a "Workable Program" "to better housing in the Borough and to improve both living and working conditions," is nothing more than a preliminary step, it brings Princeton infinitely closer to Urban Renewal than it has ever been before.

In Princeton, the Borough Housing Authority announced its third major personnel change in a period of seven months. Its newly named Acting Executive Director and Acting Secretary, an appointment effective Saturday, August 18th, is Dr. Harry W. Hazard, 36 Armour Road, who will serve as liaison with all local and federal agencies in matters pertaining to the urban redevelopment program and public housing.

Succeeding Mrs. Marcella Vreeland, who in turn succeeded Bruce N. French last February upon his resignation because of the pressure of other responsibilities, the newly designated Acting Executive Director is resigning as a member and as vice-chairman of the six-member Housing Authority. Appointed to the Authority in 1949, he has twice been vice-chairman and over the years has gained recognition as the Authority's specialist in urban development and its relation to the Borough.

Dr. Hazard, 40, a lifelong resident of New Jersey and formerly a member of the University Faculty, has headed the Inter-Government Relations Committee of the Princeton Council of Community Services and has been a member of the Council's Recreation and Library Committees. A former program chairman of both the Princeton High School and the Borough Elementary Schools PTA's, Dr. Hazard also last year conducted a survey of Mercer County for the White House Conference on Children and Youth.

Dr. Hazard, the father of five children, ranging in age from a Princeton University freshman to a two-year old daughter, is an authority in Near Eastern affairs, a field in which he has edited several books on history and politics and has prepared a deeply respected "Islamic Atlas."

SIDEWALKS OKAYED

After Murtha's Meeting, Princeton Township will have sidewalks on Valley Road by early fall, despite the filibuster-style tactics used by one irate resident in an unsuccessful attempt to block their approval. Near the end (12:40 a.m.) of a four-hour, record-setting August meeting Monday night, the Township Committee unanimously endorsed the four-foot-wide concrete walks, which will run from Harrison Street to Harris Road on the south side of Valley and from Harrison to Jefferson Road on the north side.

The five determined Committee members gave Princeton Township the distinction of becoming the first municipality to utilize recently-passed State Bill A-39 when they approved an amended ordinance authorizing the sidewalks. By its terms, the Township will share the $12,900 construction costs with 34 different Valley property owners on a 50-50 basis. Bill A-39 made possible the municipality's participation.

In taking their action to provide sidewalks for an important Township artery, the Committee men cited a letter from the safety committee of the Valley Road School PTA, which urged passage of the ordinance — for the proper protection of the many youngsters who walk to school via Valley — and asked that work be started at once. Mayor Charles A. Hurford also stressed that the Valley project is only the start of a major sidewalk system, that a survey is being conducted so other sidewalks can be included in the Township's "master plan." Calvin O. Schofield, town-inspector's chief engineer, estimated that installation of the new sidewalks will commence during the week of August 26. "It will be tough to get even one side completed by the opening of school," he said, "but we'll certainly try." If the weather doesn't turn too bad, the whole job should be finished around mid-October, he added.

Questions Constitutional Right. Henry J. Frank of 273 Jefferson, one of the owners of property along Valley as well as the Committee's No. 1 antagonist, held the floor for more than an hour Monday in an effort to disrupt the city fathers' best intentions. He questioned the Committee's constitutional right to pick Valleys for sidewalks, he asserted once again that the elimination of foliage on both sides of Jefferson is more vital to the children's safety than sidewalks on Valley. He threw in every other "anti" he could cook up—and, in fact, he worked many of these items over time.

Mr. Frank received brief vocal support from a pair of Valley property owners in the unusually high mid-summer audience of 50, but nine or 10 citizens from the same street were on hand to endorse the Committee's action or ask pertinent questions of their own, not to back the seemingly indefatigable critic. Finally, Mr. Frank admitted he's not really opposed to sidewalks per se, rather, he's opposed to paying for them, believing the Township should absorb 100 per cent of the costs. "The way it is now," he concluded, "I don't think it's fair."

In other decisions Monday, the Committee:

- Advised that the gravel-type path on the north side of Snowden Lane, removed during the street's widening project, will be replaced next week—in ample time for children returning to Littlebrook School.
- Approved after public hearing on Page 11

many in number hereabouts. Written especially for Jerry, producer as well as star of this particular outing, the VistaVision-Technicolor picture involves an inept, shy, small-town bachelor and TV regularman who for years has been in love with a small-town girl (Marilyn Maxwell), now a glamorous Hollywood star. Ably assisted by Baccaloni, Reginald Gardner and Hans Conrid, Jerry romps through a handful of comedy routines, some bordering on the slapstick, some of the more subtle variety and still others a bit too familiar.

LAWRENCE DIVINE

King Creole (August 15-16) refers to Elvis Presley, who in real life has gone into the Army and therefore won't be able to embarrass the screen with another such performance for two years. Come to think of it, maybe that's why the VistaVision is in lushless black-and-white this time. Anyhow, Elvis plays an ambitious lad from the French Quarter of New Orleans who goes his own way, gets involved with rockers and hoodlums, falls in love with both a "good" girl and a "bad" girl and eventually convinces his daddy there's nothing wrong with singing in a dive on Bourbon Street.

With the exception of the star, the picture rests in competent hands; i.e., producer Hal Wallis, director Michael Curtiz, supporting performers Carolyn Jones, Dolores Hart, Dean Jagger. However, they are all overshadowed by Mr. P—on you must be one of his fans or suffer the consequences. He shakes 10 songs during 20 per cent of the show and emotes the other 80 per cent, but he still isn't a threat to Brando. The companion feature, "High Hell," finds John Derek involved with gold miners and harrowing outlaws in a season melodrama filmed in the Swiss Alps (which are supposed to be the Canadian Rockies).

God's Little Acre (August 17-20) is the best-selling Erskine Caldwell book transplanted to the screen and retaining much of the novel's strong portrayal of a family gone wrong. The setting is primarily the deteriorating mansion of a Georgia family whose lives are a harsh mixture of unfulfilled dreams and the sordid reality of poverty.

A lust for gold believed to be buried nearby is the driving force behind Robert Ryan as the head of the family, while love of another man's woman and the petty hatreds caused by continuing dissatisfaction with life are other basic emotions guiding the story to its conclusion. The effect is anything but pretty, yet the atmosphere of accurate portrayal cannot be denied.

In addition to Ryan, the principals include Aldo Ray, Eddy Lackett (who provides welcome comic relief) and Tina Louise, the latter making her film debut. The Georgia mill town setting lends stark reality, and Caldwell's aura of sheer squalor has been faithfully reproduced. Hardly entertaining in the primary sense of the word, but a picture that holds the attention throughout its 110 minutes.

The companion feature is "Rockabilly Baby." Need any more be said?

UNIVERSITY PLAYERS

O'Casey Comedy Next, "Purple Dust" by the well-known Irish playwright, Sean O'Casey, will appear on the boards of Murray Theatre next Tuesday through Saturday. Cast will include Flora Elkins, Ralph Williams, Kathy Kelly and other ac Player members. Philip Minor will direct.

The play chronicles the doings of two ambitious Britishers who try to cultivate "the gracious life" in an old Irish mansion. The author inserts such devices as falling plaster and a living-room invasion by a cow and gives the piece many other slapstick and low comedy touches. In spite of the turmoil, O'Casey points up the farce by showing how foolish urban people are in the country and how love is a closer bond than a bank account.

Coming about midway in the author's career, the play was a great success in London in 1953 and in 1958 at New York's Cherry Lane Theatre. It was cited by Brooks Atkinson as "top-notch theatrical entertainment" at that time. Murray's box office number is WA 4-3539.

MUSIC CIRCUIS

"Show Boat" Next, Gail Manners will appear in "Show Boat," the Jerome Kern and Oscar Hammerstein musical hit, beginning August 19 and continuing through August 24 at St. John Terrell's Music Circus in Lambertville. "Show Boat" follows "Happy Hunting," starring Billie Worth, which closes August 17.

A dazzling flamenco dance featuring Luis Olivera and Malena Vargas is a second-act highlight of "Happy Hunting." Oliveras has been the leading male dancer in Jose Greco's ballet company since 1949 and has appeared on television in "The Tootle of the Town," "Omnihus" and "Your Show of Shows."

Lawrence Weber plays the leading role of the duke and Grace Gentel appears as Beth Livingston. Following "Show Boat" will be "Damn Yankees," to run from August 26 through September 14. LOGICAL (AND OPPOSITE) OPINIONS: Albert M. Wert of Princeton thinks women should do 90 per cent of all marketing, while his wife feels men are a great help at shopping. The scene above indicates a family compromise; the answers to Question of the Week below indicate a variety of thoughts on the subject. (TOWN TOPICS Photo by Hank Chachowski)

Question of the Week

Question: Do you think the American male is too domesticated? (Suggested by an article in the latest issue of McCall's magazine).

Location: Acme supermarket during the peak of weekend shopping.

Samuel Schell, 129 Valley Road, sales manager for Pharma-Craft Corporation in Cranbury: I think American men are too domesticated—at least, to a degree. It must be the changing pattern of life. Men have more free time. They used to work 12 to 15 hours a day, six days a week. Now, they are more readily available and have a tendency to help out around the house.

The move toward equality for women has helped this along.

Mrs. Samuel Schell, 129 Valley Road, housewife: I wouldn't have it any other way.

Mrs. Saraswathi Harper, Brunswick Pike, secretary at Princeton University: There is no such thing as "too domesticated." The more domesticated the better—from the woman's point of view.

Stanley Wright, Princeton-Lawrenceville Road, assistant business manager at Westminster Choir College: I am doing the shopping because my wife just had a baby. I don't normally do it. Certainly, however, it is true that the man does a great deal of work that could be considered

Is It True?

Prompted by the "lead" article in the August issue of McCall's magazine, Town Topics has asked a Question of the Week about the domesticity of the American male (elsewhere on this page).

According to the magazine, an unmarried French writer has described the American male as "a member of an oppressed minority . . . the odd of all creatures, a volunteer for slavery."

A Dutchman, Hendrik de Leeuw, seen in the United States as a "veritable army of henpecked husbands . . . treated as secondary citizens . . . kicked around by unsympathetic wives."

An English anthropologist's opinion: "In few societies is the role of father more vestigial than in the United States." Elizabeth Pope, author of McCall's story, gives the American male a break. She doesn't agree with the foreign observations.

domestic. It must be because he has more time and because more domestic work is required for comfortable living. The husband finds he must service all the equipment and appliances necessary for modern living.

Mrs. Albert M. Wert, 17 Edwards Place, housewife: I think men are a great help at shopping. Their appetites are well as their wives' have to be appeased.

Albert M. Wert, 17 Edwards Place, retired office supervisor, Public Service: I think the women should do 90 per cent of the marketing. They know more what they want. A great many of them have been around long enough to find out what their husbands like.

Darrell Syford, Brunswick Pike, student at Princeton Theological Seminary: Yes, the husband is becoming domesticated. The modern marriage is based on new lines that are not as clearly drawn as in my father's. Each marital partner is more willing to work as part of a team. It's like two sovereign states entering into a treaty.

Mrs. Darrell Syford, Brunswick Pike, secretary at Educational Testing Service: The American male is just domesticated enough to be a good partner for his wife. He realizes that things have changed.

Larry Snell, 17 Joline Road, Keudell Park, labor relations manager for American Telegraph & Telephone Company: Having two small children, I guess I am domesticated. I do the shopping every once in a while. It is helpful for my wife to do small chores—and not too difficult or time-consuming.

Mrs. Harold Blackwell, Pennington, housewife: No, I don't think men are too domesticated. There are now more working wives than ever before and I feel men should share in the work at home. In other countries, there are not as many working wives as in the United States. You just can't go out and work all day and then go home to do more housework. It's just too much.

Richard E. Stafford, 216-B Halsey Street, graduate student in psychology at Princeton University: European scientists have an advantage over American scientists in that they don't have to do much housework. It is certainly a trend for American men to do more around the house, especially in the middle classes.

Mrs. Richard E. Stafford, 216-B Halsey Street, housewife: In theory, men shouldn't have to do so much around the house, but, in practice, I like it very much.

BUSINESS In Princeton

NASSAU HAVIL

That's Nassau Fund Nery. In early October, the Nassau Fund of Princeton will celebrate the first anniversary of the important date that it received SEC permission to offer shares and build a portfolio. It will be a real celebration, too, for Harland W. Holsington, the Fund's president, announced this week that his corporation has just gone over the $1,000,000 mark.

Commenting on the Fund's fine growth, the former Lazard Freres staffer said he and his colleagues were able to take advantage of last fall's market break, thanks to the fortunate timing of the SEC endorsement. Thus, the Fund's initial offering price of $10 has climbed more than 10 per cent to its present position of $11.03 asset value per share.

Mr. Holsington noted with pride that the Nassau Fund levies no loading or redemption charge whatsoever, unlike many no-load funds which charge one per cent to cash in shares. "Our customers receive the net asset value of their investment," he said, "and we charge them only the small management fee of one-half of one per cent each year," the president stated. "There are only 23 such no-load organizations in the entire nation."

As pointed out in the July 15 issue of Forbes magazine, Mr. Holsington's "balanced portfolio" is Nassau Fund's unusual distinction. He has spread the funds evenly among bonds, preferred and common stock. But he has given a venture-capital flair to the stock issues while proceeding cautiously with his common. Thirteen of his 21 bonds, for example, are convertible. Fifteen of his 28 commons, on the other hand, are utility or financial stocks.

Mr. Holsington, who has headed the investment counsel firm of Harland W. Holsington Inc., 10 Nassau Street, for the past dozen years, said he decided to organize the Nassau Fund "because hundreds of small investors were coming to me and I didn't like to send them away. So, I put them into the Fund, with no loading charge, and provided the small investors with a place to invest safely. Now, we've got over 100 stockholders, with investments ranging from $1,000 up to $200,000, and they're located from Maine to California, though the majority are Princeton area residents."

Included on the Fund's board of directors with Mr. Holsington are Edwin T. Goodridge, vice-president; Edward S. Sampson, vice-president; Paul M. VanWagoner, secretary-treasurer; Harland W. Holsington Jr., assistant secretary and assistant treasurer.

REASON TO CELEBRATE: Harland W. Holsington, president of the Nassau Fund, reported this week that the corporation's net assets have topped the much-touted $1,000,000 mark in less than a year. For details, see Business in Princeton.

James H. Winkler, John H. Wallace Jr., Hugh D. Wise Jr. and William Dugan.

SOCIETY NAMES PHELPS: New Department Head, Socony Mobil Oil Company, Inc., has appointed Thomas W. Phelps of 22 Lafayette Road as its economics department manager. An assistant to the chairman of the board of directors for the past nine years, Mr. Phelps will assume his new post Friday.

The former chief of The Wall Street Journal's Washington Bureau and one-time editor of Baron's Weekly was partner in charge of research with Francis L. Dubont and Company before joining Socony Mobil in 1949. He and his wife, the former Rosalie Bailey of New York City, have lived in Princeton for approximately 16 years. They have three children, Rosalie, Lucinda, and Thomas Williams, Jr.

NEW X-RAY AMPLIFIER Could Prove Ideal, Dr. Ellwood W. Godfrey, chief radiologist at Princeton Hospital, has indicated that the thin-screen x-ray amplifying panel developed experimentally at RCA's David Sarnoff Research Center in Princeton "may ultimately provide the ideal x-ray amplifier." Dr. Godfrey made the report this week at the annual meeting of the Rocky Mountain Radiological Society in Denver.

The new amplifier holds an image on its screen for a period of up to 30 seconds, providing temporary storage of picture information. Other advantages include its simplicity of operation, easy adaptability to existing x-ray equipment, and ability to emit a brightness up to 100 times that of a conventional fluoroscopic screen.

The device has been tested with patients and with "phantoms," or simulated sections of the human body, at both Princeton Hospital and the University of Pennsylvania Hospital in Philadelphia. In this way, the amplifier was analyzed and the direction of further developmental effort determined.

Because of its thin panel form, the amplifier can be substituted for a conventional fluoroscopic screen. It then produces bright images which are visible in moderate room light rather than in the darkness needed by conventional apparatus.

The combination of the immediate image with adequate brightness for viewing in room light and the temporary storage enables the image to persist for an extended time with the x-rays off. This aids portal radiography or the viewing of limited and specific areas as an aid in x-ray therapy.

It also enables the device to be used in conjunction with the treatment of the patient, eliminating the time delay caused in obtaining and processing conventional films.

The report, prepared by Dr. Godfrey and Benjamin Kazan of RCA, also pointed out that the present experimental device is "grainy and exhibits non-uniformities." It proposed a series of objectives to be achieved through further development, making the panel useful for all types of medical application.

Among these objectives, Dr. Godfrey listed the reduction of such non-uniformity and, ultimately, the shortening of response time in order to permit the viewing of moving objects.

"MISALLIANCE" A SUCCESS
 GBS Mated With Talent. The University Players have again produced a comedy of vitality and great wit in choosing Shaw's "Misalliance," a period piece first produced in 1910. The Shaw's menu is complete from aristocrat and middle-class millionaire to rebellious Socialist and suffragette women. And, under the able direction of Philip Minor, the cast handles their assignments with competence and gusto.

Special plaudits go to Bill Butler and Donald Moffat as Lord Summerhayes and Mr. Tarkenton who portray the maladjusted retired India governor and successful, though frustrated, newspaper manufacturer, respectively.

Flora Atkins as the renegade Tarkenton daughter is somewhat nervous in her mannerisms but presents a pretty picture and delivers her barbed comments with an engaging smile. Her brother, played by Jim Carruthers, is the perfect foil for the English stiff-upper-lip and matter-of-fact competence, although he too has his brief fling with the Polish aviator, admirably portrayed by Solly Jency.

Charles Schultz gives a marvelous characterization to the weak Summerhayes son who loses the girl but gains some courage in the course of the play. Emily Rubberg, as Mrs. Tarkenton, holds the family together with infinite charm and untroubled knowledge.

As the handsome and dashing Joey Percival, Bill Rogers does an admirable job and blandly tosses off some of the play's best remarks on honor and the qualities of a gentleman. Ralph Williams, who has the meaty role of the gunner who tries to take Mr. Tarkenton's life, let's loose his dramatic force and gives the audience many of its best laughs.

The setting by Jerry Ralibourn evokes the atmosphere of an English country house to perfection as do the costumes designed by Dennis Williams. Art Wolf managed his lighting job admirably.

The scope of Shaw's play comes across the footlights with clarity and force and the production sparkles with the comic talents evidenced by the entire cast. The Players gain well-deserved praise for handling a conversational comedy with ease and skill.

INSTITUTE HAILED

Teachers Inspired: Forty high school science instructors have left Princeton's Frick Chemical Laboratory stimulated and re-inspired by the six-week Summer Institute in Chemistry and eager to put new found techniques to practical use in the classroom next fall. Whatever benefits they gleaned will in turn be transmitted to 4,200 high school students in 1958-59.

The pilot program co-sponsored by Princeton University and the State Department of Education under a $30,000 grant from The Camille and Henry Dreyfus Foundation was dedicated to helping high school teachers develop the scientific talent "so urgently needed in America." It combined a vigorous round of lectures, laboratory exercises, seminars, and informal "bull sessions."

Dr. Clark E. Bricker, an associate professor of chemistry at Princeton and the Institute's director, called the program a definite success. "Very nearly all of the teachers left here Friday with a refreshed slant on chemistry and certainly a different outlook on their own teaching profession," he said.

Professor Bricker feels the teachers have been convinced of what he calls "the terrific need of keeping up to date," and the danger of falling into a rut from the routine of teaching the same material each year. They were also shown the importance of teaching their students to think like scientists.

The Institute's director points to enthusiasm, eagerness to learn, and "tremendous spirit" as prominent characteristics of the group as a whole. One participant felt the program valuable enough to remark: "As a result of this Summer Institute I will never be the same high school teacher I was before."

A major aim of the Institute, that of aiding the teachers in working with gifted secondary school students, was accomplished in two ways. Dr. Bricker outlined on Page 12

A mysterious Princetonian, known for his love of out-of-the-way objects d'art and philanthropy, has purchased the Japanese rock garden on view for four years at New York's Museum of Modern Art. According to Meyer Berger's "About New York" column in Friday's New York Times, three 16-ton loads of rock have been moved to the Princeton estate to create a new rock garden in the best Japanese style.

Princeton University has an unknown future benefactor since the Oriental enthusiast (a Princeton graduate) plans to give the garden to adorn "Old Nassau" one day. The only other clue as to the buyer's identity is that his estate is two miles outside Princeton—which still places it within the Township.

David H. Engel, New York landscape architect, will build a pond and waterfall as part of the garden as well as utilizing a Cambodian Buddha of great antiquity in the scheme. The water will be reflected in the pond by day and will be lighted by underwater fixtures and spotlights at night. The Princeton pool will be winter-proof to support a school of goldfish and hidden concrete will protect the valuable rocks against cracks caused by temperature changes.

BOBROW COURT

Three. Arn. Fined. Bruce Nystrom, a 20-year-old Harvard sophomore who works 16 hours a day to help pay his way through school, was fined $20 and had his driver's license suspended for two and one-half years after being found guilty Monday evening of three traffic violations by Borough Magistrate Theodore T. Tans Jr. A resident of Skillman Road, Skillman, he pleaded guilty to charges of drunken driving and reckless driving and was found guilty of failing to have a registration card in possession.

Two other 20-year-olds, Christopher Wilson of 138 Patton Avenue, and Ferdinand Morroze of R. D. 1, paid fines of $10 and $25, respectively. Mr. Morroze pleaded guilty to the charge of throwing objects from a motor vehicle and Mr. Morroze admitted operating a motor vehicle without license plates.

The weekly report from the State Division of Motor Vehicles informed the court that John C. Van Cleave, 21, of Carson Road, has had his driver's license revoked for six months as a result of three speeding and one "step" sign tickets.

OVERSEAS HODGE-PODGE

Sobering Thought. A searching study of the personnel problems confronting the harassed Department of State and Foreign Service, issued as a memorandum by Princeton University's Center of International Studies, provides food for serious and disturbing thought for a nation that is faced with an ever-increasing expansion of its commitments abroad.

At a time when the United States has scattered more than 30,000 representatives (exclusive of the Armed Forces and their supporting personnel) around the world, Dr. Zara S. Steiner, the memorandum's author, finds that this country has not faced up to such matters of national concern as the role of the modern diplomat, his recruitment and his training.

In The State Department and the Foreign Service, the sixteenth in a series prepared under the auspices of the Center, Dr. Steiner is particularly concerned with the four eventful years that have elapsed since the widely publicized "Wriston Report" shook Washington down to its patent leather heels with its strong recommendations for sensible integration of State Department and Foreign Service personnel, a broadened base of recruitment and intelligent on-the-job training for career personnel.

While Dr. Steiner, one of the top-ranking women in her field and formerly a teacher at Harvard and Vassar, ladies out "credits" here and there, her comments on the language abilities of Foreign Service officers, opportunities for in-service training and the attitudes of officialdom towards advanced training would chill the enthusiasm of any prospective diplomat.

comparable to that offered by any of the Armed Services.

● Foreign Service men view training programs with some suspicion; the Department of State feels that it cannot detach promising officers for training either at the Institute or a university; Congressional committees annually veto efforts to develop more extensive training.

LABOR DAY HIGHLIGHT

On Target. One of the traditional highlights of the Princeton summer, and a certain harbinger of the brilliance that is Princeton's in the fall, is the annual Fire Department Target Shoot, which will be held under the auspices of Princeton Engine Company No. 1 at the Squatters' Club Grove on Labor Day, Monday, September 1st.

Plans for the event are being formalized by a committee headed by chairman Patrick F. McManimon. Officers working with the chairman are Stuart R. Bell, president; William C. Whalley, vice-president; Walter P. Foley, treasurer; George F. Canill, secretary; and Elmer L. McHugh, foreman.

Other members of the committee: John D. Cusill, Francis S. Davison, Robert S. Davison, Joseph V. Gallagher, Bernard Glover, Frank Haupt, Ralph F. Kieber, Leo J. McCloskey, John Markusun, Raymond J. Rodweller, Junior V. Skillman, Joseph E. McManimon and Francis J. McGuire.

MORE THAN $1,400,000

Good News, Mayor Raymond F. Maie, in his weekly report to the press, pointed out with understandable glee: "The Borough Tax Collector doesn't have to worry about 1957. His books now show that 100% of last year's taxes are accounted for. More than $1,400,000 was received, with Mayor and Council at the July meeting writing off only $200 covering small uncollectable personal property tax items."

The busiest "Borough Council summer" within memory brought further good news in the monthly report from the Collector-Treasurer's Office: the Borough's tax collections for 1956 are 6% higher than in the first seven months of 1957.

Mayor Maie has again expressed satisfaction with the experiment of holding Borough Council conference sessions a full week before the stated monthly meetings. This procedure enables the Mayor to give the agenda to the local press "in time to alert any interested citizen on matters of specified interest." There is also time to add, for Mayor and Council to do "additional homework."

THE LIGHT THAT DIDN'T FAIL—AT LAST: With the joint blessing of the State Highway Department, Princeton University, Princeton Borough and (especially!) Princeton Township, workmen from Mercer County completed installation of a four-part traffic light system at the busy intersection of Washington and College Roads this past week. The pictured worker, making final adjustments, said he thought Public Service would have the system in operation by the time this issue of TOWN TOPICS reaches its readers. Township Clerk Joseph R. Nini, who initiated correspondence proposing "a street light and traffic signal" at the intersection exactly four years ago and led the Township Committee's concerted, successful drive for action in recent months, breathed a sigh of relief and added, "I'm glad it's finished." Y SEEKS VOLUNTEERS

To Work In New Building: Mrs. Ralph Wilson, 59 Clover Lane and Mrs. Thomas Rogers, 39 Longview Drive, will fill ten key positions in the new Avaton Place Y building, according to Mrs. J. Lowrie McLean, president of the YWCA. Mrs. Wilson will head the information desk while Mrs. Rogers is chairman of the snack bar committee.

Mrs. Malcolm S. Jones, chairman of the volunteer personnel committee, is working with Mrs. Wilson in recruiting more than 100 volunteers to man the information desk and work the switchboard. These workers will have shifts of two or three hours depending on the time of day and the Bell Telephone Company has offered assistance in the series of training sessions which will take place in September.

The snack bar, to be under the direction of a professional manager with volunteer assistants, will be open for lunch as well as for snacks during the day and evening. Teenagers will assist after school and the committee hopes to recruit young business men and women for the evening hours, with the lunch-hour workers to be chiefly women in the community. Mrs. Paul Gebhardt, a member of the snack bar committee and formerly manager of the Hospital Aid Shop, will assist in training volunteers to operate the up-to-date equipment now being installed for use in September.

Those interested in serving at the information desk should call the Y at WA 4-1214 or Mrs. Wilson at WA 4-5615. Would-be soda jerks who would like to work in the snack bar can volunteer by calling the Y or Mrs. Rogers at WA 4-2261.

BOYCHOIR CAMP

Parents' Day Program. The first summer session of the Malambus Boychoir camp at Shawnee-on-Delaware, Penna., closed Saturday with over 200 visitors attending a parents' day program. The camp opened June 29 on Fred Waring's property and was affiliated with the Waring Music Workshop as a feature of its instructional program for choral directors. Mr. Waring praised the boys for their music and "high standard of behavior" at the closing ceremonies.

Dilman Smith, vice-president of the board of trustees, presented Harold Jones with a gift in recognition of the work he did in building the camp. Letters of commendation were read from Dr. Charles R. Erdman, president and Garrett S. Boetsma, treasurer. Trustees present included William M. Lanning, David Levenhritt, Dr. Warren Davis, Mrs. A. Kanner and Kenton Newlin.

Princeton boys who attended the camp included Alan and Barry Abelson, Royce Anderson, Travis and Stephen Lee Bryant and Charles Ostroff. Bruce and Kerry Kanner of Princeton were counselors. Charles Scassera of Kingston and John Bentley of Lawrenceville were also campers.

Eliminate the Negative

To the Editor of Town Topics:

Messrs. Leon J. Heuser and James S. Thompson of Parkside Drive have appealed through your newspaper (July 31) for public support of their opposition to the re-erection of the Mercer Manor portico as an adornment of Princeton Battlefield Memorial Park. Their opinions (they cite no facts) are based on three main points, to which I submit the following rebuttals:

1. The Princeton patriotic and historical societies should question this invasion (sic). More than a year ago, the Princeton Historical Society was consulted and approved. More recently, Mr. R. M. Lunney, director of the New Jersey Historical Society, endorsed our proposal, and appealed for its support in the society's proceedings (July, 1954, p.22). As one of the Sons of the Revolution, I have spoken to several other members, all of whom were in favor.

2. "Would Moses Taylor Pyne, George McNaney and Walter Edge have approved? We think not." Although these great gentlemen were personal friends of mine, I would hesitate to speak for them. However, I believe they would have welcomed any plan to add to the beauty and interest of Princeton. They were constructive in thought and deed, not the sort to quibble over a few years' difference in date as a reason for losing a beautiful thing from our community. Messrs. Heuser and Thompson profess "to commend the preservation of these Corinthian (they are Ionic) columns," but they offer no alternative site or financial support or plan for maintenance. Unless they will assume these responsibilities, their opposition, if successful, will surely cause the destruction of an historic monument of great value, and will deprive Princeton of one of the points of interest which give it distinction. I call on those who wish to increase our community's unusual attractions to help in saving the portico, and in making it a visual symbol for our battlefield, now unmarked and unknown to most of those who pass through it on Mercer Street.

3. Messrs. Heuser and Thompson fear "a Battlefield Memorial Park of many colors" unless "arbitrary state permission for any group to make alterations" is curbed. This raises the whole question of physical memorials of any sort. They must inevitably be subject to the changing taste of succeeding generations. I would agree, theoretically, with Horace, that the best and most enduring monument is a poem—"eere perennius." But, it places like battlefields are to be commemorated at all, they must have visual expression of their significance. Otherwise, their message is not communicated, and remains un conveyed to any but the very few who know it already.

In this spirit, the American people have approved Battlefield Memorial Parks all over the world, often consulting architectural embellishments to express their purpose. Only at Princeton has there been any concern about "invasion" of an historic site. Elsewhere, very large sums have been expended to honor our fallen soldiers.

In my opinion, our Revolutionary "unknown soldiers" deserve to be known and honored by today's passing citizens. I have long wished to see their resting place, and the scene of their struggles, marked by a monument visible to all. I submit that no more suitable form could be given such an architectural expression of their spirit than a simple portico of four columns serving as an entrance to the glade where their common grave is ringed by oaks.

If the Walter Portico is used for this purpose, Princeton gains, at a fraction of the expense of any new construction, first a marker for its battlefield and second a monument great historic value in its own right, which will otherwise be lost.

Compared to such advantages, I am willing to risk the possibility that some future commissioner and his adviser will condone the "invasion" of our park by improper monuments. If Messrs. Heuser and Thompson really want to something constructive for the community to which they have recently come, why don't they organize (and secure funds and public support for) an agency "to maintain the great historic tradition of the Princeton community" instead of deploring the lack of such responsibility? I shall be glad to help such a movement, as I do the Historical Charleston (S.C.) Society, which is doing so much to preserve that city's heritage.

I can't agree with the negative position that they take in this case, and I hope that they will not only become convinced of the propriety of our cause, but will contribute liberally to its success.

SHERLEY W. MORGAN

Bastille On Wheels

To the Editor of TOWN TOPICS:

The basic axiom of our government is the majority rules an admirable philosophy. However, Americans have developed and accepted a corollary which is as deplorable as the first is just: ravage the minority for the benefit of the majority.

I apply this corollary to the abuses suffered by a few at the hands of the trucking industry. The industry is permitted to operate its vehicles at dangerous speeds and with little or no mauling of the motor. This benefits the average consumer with lower rates (the faster the trucks operate, the lower the labor cost per unit haul; an unmodified motor consumes less fuel), while a small minority is slaughtered on the highway and a larger one is enjoined from enjoying his home at all times of the day. Fortunately for me, I fall in the latter group.

I don't think that the minority should storm the Bastille, but we should give the trucking lobby something to think about. Perhaps an organization similar to the one which fought the proposed reservoir is necessary, and, if so, I am in favor of forming just that. I would be pleased to discuss this possibility with anyone willing to help.

PHS FOOTBALL OUTLOOK
(This is the first of two articles on Princeton High School's football prospects for the 1958 season.)
Title to Defend. When Joe Jingoli and his experienced, four-man coaching staff, master Princeton High School's football troops 18 days hence, they will probably count the usual number of varsity hopefuls, 60 or so. But, among these candidates, there are only five returning lettermen to form the nucleus of a team that must defend the Mercer County title, won last fall by a beefy crew that included no less than 11 holdover letter-winners. Jingoli has called for physical examinations at 8:30 September 2, the morning after Labor Day, and he and his aides will start dispensing uniforms as soon as the players have received their medical "o.k.'s." At least one workout will be scheduled for the afternoon of September 2, with two-day drills planned until school re-opens September 8. A pre-season scrimmage with New Brunswick is slated for September 13, two weeks prior to the opening game with Mount Holly. Nine months ago, after his spirited '57 eleven had rallied to nip Ewing and thereby go undefeated against Intracounty opposition, the PHS head coach filed a list of pros and cons concerning this year's Little Tigers varsity. Surveying the list last this past week, Jingoli admitted

Stick '58 Stars
Princeton High School will open its most attractive football schedule in many years against a new opponent, Mount Holly, on September 27. The following week, the Little Tigers will play another newcomer, Freehold, formerly a pre-season scrimmage foe. Mount Holly and Freehold have replaced Hamilton and Peddie on PHS's eight-game card. As indicated below, Princeton is slated to travel to only three contests, with five home dates. George Tindall, PHS athletic director, is endeavoring to switch sites of one of those home contests so the Little Tigers will not be stuck with five "away" games in 1958.
The 1958 schedule:
Sept.—
27—Mount Holly (A)
Oct.—
4—Freehold (H)
11—Leonardo (H)
17—Trenton (H)
25—Trenton Catholic* (A)
31—Somerville (H)
Nov.—
8—Long Branch (A)
15—Ewing* (H)

WILL 13TH BE LUCKY? That's the fond hope of Joe Jingoli, popular teacher-coach who is about to launch his 13th consecutive post-war season at the head of Princeton High School's grid proceedings. For a first look at his chances of success, see Sports in Princeton.

the situation hasn't changed much in the interim. To his way of thinking (i.e., the typical coach's way), the cons have the pros outweighed. Cons: Princeton has lost 23 lettermen from its championship club, which compiled a 5-2 campaign record, and, of the five returning lettermen, only two are elite performers; last year's freshman squad compiled a poor 1-5 mark; PHS no longer has eight regulars over 200 pounds, the main source of 1957's great defensive unit. Pros: Princeton has an impressive crop of jumpers, refugees from last year's jayvee squad; two veteran tailbacks should help PHS' single-wing attack click well; this year's returnees walloped Ewing's returnees, 25-8, in a post-season contest last November.

A Couple of Bib "ifs." Emphasizing the importance of the juniors competing for starting berths on the '58 club, Jingoli pointed out that there will be 20 of them in contention, as opposed to 17 seniors (of which only 10 can be considered seriously off their previous work). The opening kickoff of the fall may well find over half of the Blue and White's positions occupied by juniors. Despite the woeful '57 won-and-lost freshman mark recorded by the more than 20 sophomores who will report September 2, PHS is counting heavily on several of them. They were the players who managed to shine while the team as a whole looked rather lackluster. "If two or three of these sophomores come through, they can make the varsity a good one," Gerry Croninger, one of Jingoli's valuable aides, asserted this week.

Regarding the possibility of helpful transfer students—an important factor in last year's success story—Jingoli said he knows of none at the moment, so they must be classified as strictly "questionable." Croninger's contribution on the subject: "We can only hope." The unpredictable matter of transfers actually has worked against the Little Tigers thus far this year. Tim Connor, a most promising junior lineman, had been trained by Jingoli & Co. to handle the difficult, vital running tackle chores. His family has moved out of the school district. As a result, the left tackle post will really be up for grabs come September.

up for the overall weight we are going to lose."

Jingoli observed that "there seems to be a cyclic system working against high school coaches." Last year, he explained, PHS had a fine line, but an inexperienced backfield. This year, while the line appears to be sub-par, the backfield should be one of the best in recent seasons.

"We'll have at least two competent backfields," Jingoli predicted. Along with the two, experienced tailbacks, both letter-winners, PHS will boast a hard-blocking letterman at wingback, a line-busting senior fullback and an extremely smart quarterback, so essential for proper operation of the involved single wing program. It should be fun to watch these '58 Princeton ponies on the go, especially if enough horses can be developed to lead the way.

DO-OR-DIE TIME

Juniors Playing Finale. With the season's last regularly scheduled games set for this Thursday evening and three make-up contests on the docket for Friday, Monday and Tuesday, the Princeton Junior Baseball League will complete its '58 pennant scrap, with Nassau Oil still favored to top the championship. Matthews or Bowers, both given an outside chance to catch the loop leading club, must sweep its remaining encounters in order to move into the top spot.

Providing the Oilers or one of the two Construction nines clinch the title in the course of the next few days, the league's annual All-Star clash—between the winning outfit and the outstanding players on the other three teams will be held at 6:36 p.m. Aug. 21 at Brokaw Field. In case of rain, always a possibility this summer, the All-Star game will be re-scheduled for the evening of August 22.

An inspired Matthews club, in last place a week ago, soared in to a challenging position this past week by shading the PBA-sponsored Police team, 2-1, and stopping front-running Nassau Oil, 6-4. Southpaw John Rogerson, one of Princeton High's bright hopes for the future, pitched—both victories for Matthews—in four days' time—and thereby afforded his teammates a new lease on life.

In other games this past week, Bowers took what may be a too-costly nosedive, primarily due to the absence of Bruce Sandvik. Consecutive losses to the Oilers, 5-4, and PBA forces, 7-5, may have signalled the beginning of the end.

Clinic For Princeton

The Eastern Association of Intercollegiate Football Officials will hold its 1958 annual clinic and business meeting in Princeton. It was announced this week by Asa S. Bushnell, 71 Palmer Square, commissioner of the organization. The joint session is scheduled for the Princeton Inn and various Princeton University sites August 29 and 30.

Mr. Bushnell, who is also commissioner of the Eastern College Athletic Conference, said George L. Shebler, the ECAC's assistant commissioner, will serve as toastmaster for the occasion. Princetonnians who will speak during the course of the two-day gathering are Richard W. Colman, the Tigers' head coach and a member of the American Football Coaches Association, and Kenneth Fairman, Princeton's director of athletics.

Tommy Petrone of Nassau Oil and David Cromwell of the Police were huling winners, along with Rogerson, while Jack Hawkins, Dick Olsen and Bill Weissenbauer were the week's standout hitters. Gil Fisher and Charlie Pemberton earned plaudits for their eyesatching work behind the plate.

Included on the loop's make-up slate are Nassau Oil vs. Bowers this Friday, Bowers vs. Matthews next Monday and Nassau Oil vs. Matthews next Tuesday. These meetings could conceivably alter the predicted finish—the Oilers on top, that is—at the very last moment.

The Junior League standings, as of August 11:

Nassau Oil	W 1 T 0	Pts. 6 2 0
Matthews	4 4 0	24
Police (PBA)	3 6 1	24
Bowers	3 4 1	23

IT'S NEW To Us

RIGGER AND BETTER

Bailey's grows. For many years now, Bailey's has been an institution for Princeton women with a caggy eye for a bargain. First Witherspoon Street, and during the past year at the Princeton Shopping Center, store has made a specialty of providing astute shoppers with women's clothing at shrewd prices.

Now Mr. Bailey is expanding again. Actually, he is expanding without moving, if there is such a thing. He has knocked out the back wall of his Shopping Center Store and stretched his shelves back as far as they will go. He plans to have an attractive vestibule to welcome customers who come in from the parking lot, and between the new vestibule and the front Mall door, will be the same old Bailey only more so. It's about 60 linear feet of additional space.

Within this new-found room, Mr. Bailey once again stocks the remnants that he has sought to browse among bolts of fabric. All the maternity wear has now been gathered into one place in a sort of expanded maternity department, if you'll pardon the double meaning. Here you will find skirts, shorts, slacks, an infinite variety of tops, and all the maternity undergarments you need.

Across from the maternity department is Mr. Bailey's uniform section which is certainly one of the largest you'll find anywhere. He has uniforms from $2.98 to $16.95 in cotton, dacron, combinations of both, nylon, batiste and seersucker. You can be fitted if you want anything from size 7 to 22, with half sizes marked at 14 1/2 to 24 1/2.

There are about eight uniform colors, besides white and if you want a special color, you may choose it from one of 22 catalogues.

The enlarged shop will keep its collection of regulation girls' gym suits, and will add to them a bigger ballet assortment, with leotards in six colors, ballet shoes, and lights in 10 colors.

For ladies who wear neither gym suits, maternity dresses, uniforms or tutus, there are slendard garments as well. A boy coat in camel's hair is $39.50. A collection of long, slinky fall sweaters — priced variously — includes all kinds of bulky knits, like the catigans and slipovers that look like Shetland.

Grey has been used for several sweaters whose finely-knit stitches are grouped in ribs. These sweaters have collars, buttons and a blouson style. Another sweater, ribbed, has a neck that goes straight across from shoulder to shoulder, Italian style, they say.

A ribbed turtle neck slipover turns its turtle down if you want the collar that way. Comes in beige, grey, red, blue, green.

Set A Light Table. New china patterns have been designed with a light brush to achieve an effect that might best be described as casual formality.

At Edward's Jewelers, Princeton Shopping Center, you'll find patterns like Royal Doulton's "Tiana," which displays a very fine silver wreath against a white background. It's a coupe plate and the wreath is contained within the center of the circle.

Gold borders are coming back, having been displaced three or four years ago by platinum. Lenox has "Mansfield" which is nothing but a very simple gold border on a cream colored plate.

Royal Worcester calls its pole grey and blue. "Bridal Wreath." This fine, varnished design lies against a white background edged with platinum.

"September" has a small, dignified whirlwind of leaves in the very center of a gold-bordered coupe that is otherwise without ornament. The colors in "September" (muted grey and olive) are an example of another current trend in china design: chinaware so inconspicuous that you can use it with any cloth, in any dining room. In other words, go ahead and put on new wallpaper; your china will still match.

Haviland has less color in its offerings, too. The designs are not modern, but they are light in feeling. Even traditional homes can have informal service, after all.

Incidentally, if you have old or heirloom patterns in Spode or Wedgwood, Edwards can fill in your missing pieces even if they go back half a century.

Have a Seat. But not for long. Only dedicated Sunday painters could find real comfort in the canvas seat for artists now available at, naturally, Nassau Paint. It's a sturdy, but collapsible aluminum seat with canvas sling. Your own weight holds it taut and steady while you paint the scenery. $2.50.

For those waning summer days when small hands are apt to hang idle, Nassau Paint (126 Nassau) has some new plastic molds to use for making plaster of paris plaques.

These molds are made of clear plastic that is light-weight and easy to handle. You may choose from many designs: bouquets of flowers, the insignia of the YMCA, a parrot on his perch, a profile of Jesus, the head of an Indian or a bowl of fruit. The plaques are about five inches square and they cost from 25 cents to 60 cents.

The smallest, chubby-fingers could handle a new sand painting kit. Put glue on the picture, silt colored sand on the numbered sections and there you are. The very small kit has good big pictures and good big sections, mostly in nursery rhyme motif. These are $1. Other kits, at $2 and $4 are scaled for bigger children. It would take quite a sand artist to fill in the full-sized ship.

The numbers game appears again on a different kind of picture kit. This one uses oils on taffets. The fabric background is bright turquoise and the numbered design appears in black outline. You fill in with oils, following the numbered diagram. But you always have a turquoise background when you're through.

Most of the pictures in this collection are Oriental in feeling: a Chinese bridge, a bird, even a marine still-life have an eastern look. There is gold edging to use for gilding your lily, and sugarcane white beads to spread on the wet oil for a glistening effect. Kits are $3.95.

PAC IN TROUBLE

Must Win Two Straight. After nearly wrapping up the Tri-County League's pennant package with a final 12-2 record, the Princeton Athletic Club lost a close, opening playoff game to Sonnypine this Monday and now must win two in a row to keep in the post-season tournament. The Princetonians will play at Brookway Field at 6:15 p.m. this Thursday and, if a third contest is required, will go again at the same place and hour Friday.

Revised Sonnypine's victory was a happy occasion for that hustling team, though poor officiating—in the eyes of the winners as well as the losers—helped set the stage for PAC's early downfall. Amidst a goody amount of wrangling, the regular-season triphases nine scored four big runs in the bottom of the first inning (Sonnypine was the home club at Brookway—and did him in) on an error, two walks, a single and king-sized triple by Totie Robinson.

Princeton had tallied three markers in its half of the opening frame—an error and consecutive safeties by Steve Hogarty, "Beanie" Kraus (see "We Congratulate") and Ivan Riddick—so Joe Catelli's pitching difficulties at the start did not put the game out of reach. This proved particularly true as young Jack Lackey came on to relieve well for the locals and Princeton managed to deadlock the battle in the third on Lee Ammerman's single, stolen base, a long fly and a fielder's choice.

In the bottom of the last inning, Lackey dropped the decision on an unearned run. A Sonnypine two-bagger, followed by a two-out Princeton bobbie, did him in. The winning club collected only four hits to PAC's five, but, on the other hand, the Princetonians whiffed nine times to Sonnypine's eight.

As Princeton was losing Monday and watching the rain fall Tuesday, South Brunswick and Montgomery Township—the second and fourth-place finishers, respectively—were busy splitting 3-1 games. Thus, their telltale third contest will be waged this Thursday, giving the victor at least three days' rest before the start of the final playoffs, probably next Monday.

To achieve its fine regular-season wind-up mark, PAC copped a pair of belated triumphs last week. Catelli coasted to an easy 10-2 win over last-place Hopewell, then Charlie Perpetua hurried well in relief at Princeton rallied for a 9-5 verdict over

DOWN-TO-THE-WIRE

PCSL Foes in Doubt. First-round playoffs in the Princeton Community Softball League will begin next Tuesday evening, according to league officials. Fisher, loop secretary-treasurer, but opponents for the opening best-of-three series will not be ascertained until this week end. Make-up games must be played in the next few days before final selections in an unexpectedly red-hot pennant race can be determined.

Sannino's, without the services of vacationing ace pitcher Lou DiMeglio, will meet Cenerino's with sizzling hurler Mack Brockington back in harness in a pivotal make-up contest this Thursday. Going into the encounter, Sannino's has a 10-5 won-and-lost record for a .792 percentage, while Cenerino's has a 21-6 mark for .778. Thursday's tilt will be the regular-season finale for Cenerino's, which claimed three victories this past week, but Sannino's must squeeze in two other postmortems.

Nassau Social Club, with a 17-9 record, undoubtedly will be the league's No. 3 team entering the playoffs. However, fourth-place will not be filled for sure until the Sportsmen and Drake's conclude their engagements. At last report, Fisher had both of these clubs about even, with something in the neighborhood of 13-13 marks. Rain at the crucial hour this Tuesday evening did little to clarify the overall PCSL picture. When and if the playoffs get launched next Tuesday, as promised, Sannino's or Cenerino's will commence a three-game set against the Sportsmen or Drake's. NSC will be pitted against Sannino's or Cenerino's, depending on the one-two finish this week end. Providing the playoffs' first round can be wound up next week, the final playoffs will be conducted the week of August 25.

MERCHANT FINED
Zoning Ordinance Enforced. Leonard La Placa, who for almost three years had used his storage warehouse for the commercial sale and display of furniture in an area restricting such practices under the Township zoning ordinance, paid a $200 fine in Township Court this week. Magistrate Louis R. Gerber also imposed a $5 court fee and ordered Mr. La Placa to discontinue all commercial practices within a week. Mr. La Placa pleaded guilty to charges of using his establishment at 1113 Princeton-Kingston Road for the illegal sale of furniture from September 1955 to August 1958.

Because of his cooperative attitude, Township Attorney Gordon D. Griffin urged the minimum fine. The law states that a penalty not to exceed $200 is to be imposed for each day of illegal operation. Since Mr. La Placa had been warned since 1956, the fine could have been high. Magistrate Gerber accepted the attorney's recommendation, since the court's purpose is to make citizens realize that the zoning ordinance is to be complied with, not to make money. He indicated, however, that the court would not be so lenient in the future.

Mr. and Mrs. David Coffin, 152 Guyot Avenue, paid a $10 fine for failing to confine their dog after he had bitten a postman. Also assessed were Archie Harrison, 32, of Hollow Road, Skillman, $20 and a 15-day license suspension for speeding, and F. W. Traeger, Jr., 17, of 28 Chestnut Street, $5 and an indefinite license suspension, for racing on the highway. The Traeger case will be appealed.

News Of The CHURCHES

(Eleventh in a Series) KNOW YOUR PASTOR

Meet Mr. Blackwell. The First Presbyterian Church is the first church in Plainsboro, and the aim of its vigorous young pastor, Robert L. Blackwell, is to make it a center for community living, a true family church.

Evangelism has been important in the life of the Plainsboro church family since the Rev. Mr. Blackwell became pastor in the summer of 1957. During Lent of this year, an Evangelism Committee paid house-to-house visits during the six-week period, each family calling as a unit on other families, in the manner of a chain.

"We want more and more members to find their true role in the church," Mr. Blackwell says, "not because we want to put them to work, but because we want them to show outwardly how God has become a force in their lives."

A God-Blessed Man. This zealous young Christian started out, like so many ministers before him, to be something else. Civil engineering seemed to be his career, but in the middle of his Lafayette College years, he decided to do the thing he had really wanted to do ever since high school: be a minister.

"I had the inner feeling that God was clearly leading me," the Rev. Mr. Blackwell says. "I had the advantage of many fine contacts with ministers at church conferences and camps and in various youth groups, but there was no one person who influenced my choice. I think these fine people were instruments, used by God to guide me."

After Lafayette, where he majored in Greek with minors in English and philosophy, Mr. Blackwell entered Princeton Theological Seminary, graduating in 1961. For three years he served as assistant minister in a Presbyterian church at Orchard Park, New York. The Plainsboro church is his first full pastorate.

As soon as he can, Mr. Blackwell plans to use his knowledge of Greek and Hebrew for continuing studies in Biblical theology.

"This is closely related in my interest in evangelism," Mr. Blackwell says. "I believe that, by more fully understanding the Bible as a portion of the word of God, we can relate the Bible to the lives of people today and teach them to understand the word of God."

"A TRUE FAMILY CHURCH": That is the objective of the Rev. Robert L. Blackwell, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church of Plainsboro, who is seen here with his wife, Beverly, and their two-headed son, Bruce. The First Church is Plainsboro's only church.

The Presbyterian church thinks of ministers as "teaching elders," men who guide people into a Christ-like life, and that's the way I regard my own work," Mr. Blackwell says.

The Active Life. Believing also that members of his congregation should be teachers and leaders, Mr. Blackwell started last year a school for teachers of the Sunday School and for church officers. He plans to launch a re-evaluation of the church school and the effectiveness of its teaching.

There are 270 members of the First Presbyterian Church, 60 of whom have joined the church family since the Rev. Mr. Blackwell became minister. One of the most active committees of the church has been the Memorial Gift Committee, started by the Rev. David L. Crawford when he was pastor, and continued by Mr. Blackwell. Through the work of this group, the church has acquired in the last year some new lectern and pulpit appointments, new senior choir robes, new hymnals, a new cross and candlesticks, and now a new tower bell.

The tall, earnest young pastor sums up his philosophy in this way, "I think of my job as that of teaching and preparing people to live in closer communion with God through the church."
